City Council Elects to Install Park-O-Meters 6 Representatives Give Showings; Lengthy Talks

IN A MONTH

Representatives of six parking meter manufacturers came before the City Council in the city hall last night and demonstrated their meters. After a lengthy discussion, it was decided by the Council to accept the meters of Magee-Hale "Park-O-Meter" Company of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Steps were begun to secure approximately 120 meters within the next month or six weeks and have them installed as soon as possible.

The meters will cost $61.50 each it was reported. They are to be given a trial for six months. The city will collect the entire revenue from them, keeping fifty percent for its own purposes and using the other fifty percent to pay on the meters.

A "Park-O-Meter" is an automatic machine, using pennies and nickels, to register parking in cycles of 12 minutes. One minute's parking can be had for one penny, one hour for a nickel and two hours for ten cents, or two nickels.

Identical meters are being used in Hopkinsville, Ky. It was also decided at the meeting to restrict all parking to two hours over all the downtown parking area.

An ordinance to authorize the installation of the parking meters was passed unanimously by the City Council on July 7.

The ordinance was passed as a result of a poll conducted by the Council among the property owners and business men of the downtown business district. The business men and owners elected to have parking meters instead of an occupational tax.

Here are the zones where parking meters will be installed: All of Lake street, except the south side from State Line to Church and from Walnut to Fourth street extension; the west side of Church street; Main street from the Illinois Central railroad crossing and Church street to the west line of Mulberry street, and the north side of Main street from Mulberry to the west line of the post office property; Commercial avenue from Lake street to the south side of the bridge over Harris Fork creek.

Meters will be in operation from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Mondays through Fridays and from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Saturdays. They will not be used Sundays and holidays. Those who overpark in meter zones will be subject to fines of not less than 50c nor more than $1.

GOP Demands Full Probe In Kansas City Charge Fraud With Atty. Gen. Covering Up

CONGRESS ROUNDUP

Washington, July 22—(P)—Republican leaders indicated today that if the Senate fails to act they may submit to the House a proposed congressional investigation into Attorney General Clark's handling of Kansas City vote fraud charges.

The Senate is stalled on demands for the probe. But Senator Kern (R-Mo.) said he has not given up hope that the upper chamber will approve his resolution authorizing an inquiry.

With time running out on the Saturday adjournment goal, Democratic Senators showed no inclination to let the matter come to an early vote.

However, Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the GOP policy committee, said that "One way or another there will be an investigation this year of the Kansas City case."

A highly-placed House Republican who cannot be identified said a number of Representatives have been urging an investigation by their chamber. He said the issue might be brought before the House administration committee today.

Economics
A Republican and a Democrat on the congressional committee seeking an anti-depression formula praised in general terms President Truman's special mid-year economic report to Congress.

Said Senator Flanders (R-Vt.): "I think the most important thing the President said is that the food price and supply situation merits the most careful watching. I am afraid I don't quite agree with him that there is no ground for general alarm now. There is. The President should make an appeal to the people now for 'strict economy' in the use of food, and not wait, as he suggests, for real shortages."

Senator Myers (D-Pa.) commented that Mr. Truman "has emphasized once again the necessity for affirmative action to stabilize our high level of prosperity on a solid foundation."

Communism
Key witnesses before the House Committee on Un-American Activities were Victor Kravchenko, former Russian army officer, and Dr. Mladen Glimio-Zerkin, once a Yugoslav army officer. They were called to help the committee in its quest for evidence of Red fifth column operations in the United States.

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) said Kravchenko would deal primarily with Soviet "espionage." Dr. Glimio-Zerkin will deliver into charges that the Tito government of Yugoslavia is running an active fifth column in this country Thomas said.

Bulletin
Washington, July 22—(P)—Victor Kravchenko told Congress today that "Every responsible representative of the Soviet government in the United States may be regarded as an economic or political spy."

Poll Tax
The Senate Judiciary Committee dusted out a pigeonhole to keep the House-approved anti-poll tax bill handy until its backers decide to expose it to a new filibuster. That will not be this session. But there is every indication the Senate will act promptly when it meets again in January. The House passed the bill yesterday over the objections of Southern Representatives. The measure would make it illegal for any state or local government to require payment of a poll tax as a requirement for voting in a Presidential or Congressional election.

Many Charges And Countercharges Fill The Air As Election Day Nears For Democrats And GOP

By The Associated Press
Candidates continued citing reasons today why they think they, and not their opponents, should be elected. Campaign charges and countercharges also were hurled as Kentucky's Aug. 2 primaries approached.

The names of GOP Governor and Mrs. Simpson Willis were projected into the Republican Primary picture by Attorney General Eldon S. Dummit, seeking the GOP nomination for governor.

Dummit charged in a campaign address in Owensboro that the Governor and Mrs. Willis are "requiring every appointive officer to use the force of his department" in behalf of "their candidate, John Fred Williams, one of Dummit's opponents."

Meanwhile, Dummit's campaign manager, Vaughan Wiman, branded as "false" an assertion that the attorney general was "indifferent" to efforts to clean up gambling in several Kentucky counties.

A Joe Asher, Frankfort, attorney, had asserted in a political speech in Louisville that Dummit had been indifferent to 610 College street, was in-

pared for delivery in Hopkinsville. "On the part of a corporation to elect one of its servants governor of Kentucky than is being made by the Kentucky Utilities Company to elect Clements."

Williams declared in a speech in Tompkinsville that he endorsed spending $25,000,000 in a long-range program to improve Kentucky hospital facilities. He said the Congress has made available $12,500,000 for a health program in the state and Kentucky "should take steps to meet this amount."

Williams was scheduled to speak in Munfordville this afternoon. Dummit was scheduled for talks in Hartford this morning. Greenville this afternoon and Madisonville tonight.

In the Democratic primary campaign, Harry Lee Waterfield charged that an opponent for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Earle C. Clements, was making the race with the backing of the Kentucky Utilities company. "There never was as brazen an attempt," said Waterfield in an address prepared for delivery in Hopkinsville. "On the part of a corporation to elect one of its servants governor of Kentucky than is being made by the Kentucky Utilities Company to elect Clements."

Volcano Erupts In Nicaragua

Ancient City Of Leon Covered With Sandy Ash; Many Are Fleeing
Managua, Nicaragua, (By telephone to Mexico City), July 22—(P)—Sandy ash from erupting Cerro Negro volcano covers an area about 45 kilometers (28 miles) in diameter but so far no casualties have been reported.

Many cattle have died from lack of pasture or swallowing the sand and farmers fear crops have been destroyed.

By day smoke sometimes is visible here from the volcano 125 kilometers (81 miles) northwest and at night the reflection of flames can be seen.

Trains sent by the government have evacuated many from among ancient Leon's 70,000 people who fear the nearby eruption may become disastrous. Others think the volcano is growing quieter and that soon the fall of ash and sand will cease.

There are several inches of the sand on Leon's cobblestone streets but there is no difficulty in cars and people getting around.

Sand is kept swept off the cathedral's roof to avoid excessive weight which could cause a collapse of the old structure. Roofs of other buildings are cleared periodically.

Cerro Negro, close to Leon puffs out black smoke and sand every thirty seconds day and night. There have been four previous eruptions of the 1,500-foot cone which first was active in 1856 and spouted again in 1867, 1914 and 1927.

Time Out For Home

Louisville, Ky., July 22—It takes a lot of campaigning to make a race for the Democratic nomination for governor, but Harry Lee Waterfield seldom goes a week without a hurried visit with his family at their farm home in Hickman county.

But there is little rest for a candidate for governor even at home. There are a lot of things to attend to about the operation of the farm on which he lives. His weekly newspaper, The Hickman County Gazette, at Clinton, and his daily newspaper, The Fulton Daily Leader, Fulton, require some of his time too.

And then there are those reports he has to make to Mrs. Waterfield—the former Miss Laura Ferguson—LaCenter, and his daughters, Rose Gayle and the two daughters are pol-

Nancy Burton. Mrs. Waterfield usually mints too, and they demand answers to a lot of questions when the family circle gathers.

The lone holdout on the political discussion in the Waterfield family is little Harry Lee, Jr., who just doesn't see anything to all the talk of politics. He's more interested in cameras, fire-crackers, wagons, and things to all the talk of politics. Harry Lee, Jr., likes to think and talk of the day when he grows up and can play football too.

Dutch Sav Or Reached In Heavy Fighting Yesterday; Resistance Less Than Expected Legion Meets In Louisville

Women's Auxiliary Also In Session; Thousands Attend

Louisville, Ky., July 22—(P)—With thousands in attendance, the state conventions of the Kentucky Department, American Legion, and the Women's Auxiliary, went into their second day here today.

Addresses scheduled before the legionnaires included those of Harry Shaffer, Cincinnati, Secretary, American Legion Field Service, and C. N. Florence, Washington, of the Legion's national rehabilitation division.

Reports of various committee chairwomen were on the Auxiliary's program.

This afternoon, an old-fashioned burgeois party was slated at Churchill Downs race track. A ball was scheduled at a hotel tonight. The conventions end tomorrow.

Clarence Fields Post No. 76, Ashland, won the state Legion band contest last night. Isawnee Post No. 193, Louisville, was second.

Jefferson County Post No. 15, Louisville, won the contest for drum and bugle corps. Bourbon County Post No. 30, Paris, was second, with Man O'War Post No. 8, Lexington, Third. Willa May Marberry, a major, was the Man O'War Post, won the drum majorettes' contest.

Morning Blaze Damages Home
Fire, which originated in a closet, almost completely destroyed the inside of the Barkley James home, 117 Paschall street, this morning at 5:15.

The family was asleep at the time, and only the calls from early rising neighbors saved them from being burned to death. They fled from the house just in time, unable to save anything except their lives.

The South Fulton Fire Department, just across the way, was called and put out the fire. Fire, smoke and water had ruined everything inside the building before the firemen were able to call it quits.

Oddly enough the same house was burned in exactly the same manner on December 18, 1945. At that time origin of the fire was undetermined. The fire last night was thought to have been caused by mice lighting a match in the closet.

James, employed at Hogg's Fish Market, and this morning Mr. Hogg was out on the streets taking donations for the family. Any voluntary donations will be turned over to the James family by Mr. Hogg.

The Kentucky Fire Department was called out at 5:30 yesterday afternoon to extinguish a fire in the garage belonging to N. W. Burnette at 821 Fairview Ave. Small damage was done.

"That's My Man"
New York, July 22—(P)—Police blocked the doors of a Brooklyn theater yesterday and quietly went among the 400 patrons until they located two brothers accused of a $500 jewelry store robbery. The picture showing at the time of the arrest was "That's My Man."

Police said Joseph Cardile Jr., 21, and Frank, 18, admitted the robbery, adding that most of the jewelry was found on the floor at the place where the brothers had been sitting.

150 Dead, Injured In Swift Assault By Dutch Troops

LOCAL POLICE ACTION

Batavia, July 22—(P)—Indonesian sources said today Dutch troops who stormed ashore on the north and east coasts of Java yesterday had been engaged in heavy fighting. The Dutch, reporting all objectives reached in the operation, said resistance was "less than expected."

A Dutch army communique placed Dutch casualties yesterday at 150 dead and wounded.

President Soekarno of the Indonesian Republic announced that former Premier Sutan Sjahrir had left Java on a mission to explain the republic's position abroad.

(Arriving in Singapore, Sjahrir said he would visit the United States, India and Australia on his mission.)

A Royal Netherlands navy communique said landing craft of the navy and warships disembarked troops at Banjoewangi on the east coast of Java, and at Pasir Putih on the north coast. It was the first amphibious operation since the end of World War II. A Dutch army communique said the troops gained initial objectives and made additional advances.

A severe five-hour engagement in the Padang sector of Sumatra yesterday and other clashes on that island were reported by an Indonesian army communique. The bulletin also said that on Sunday, two Dutch warships off Marak on the extreme western tip of Java were shelled by Indonesian mortars and left the area after suffering damage.

The fight, which began Sunday with the Dutch acting first, originated in disagreements over the future government of the East Indies, rich in oil, rubber, sugar, tin and other products. The Republicans call it a "colonial war," the Dutch "local police action."

Dutch troops mainly United States-trained Marines, were said to have captured four East-Java coastal points after going ashore from naval vessels in a large-scale operation yesterday. They were reported to have established bridgeheads along a 55-mile coastal road between two of those points—Probolinggo and Sitobondo.

First reports from Sumatra said Dutch troops jumped off in local actions yesterday at three towns on that big island northwest of Java—Medan in the north, Palembang in the southeast and Padang in the middle—and had completed the Padang operation without casualties.

On Java itself, most populous island of the East Indies, news bulletins and communiques from both sides indicated that at least seven Dutch operations were under way in their observers interpreted as an attempt to pinch off the Republic into isolated segments for a final cleanup.

These operations were: In Western Java, drives south from Buitenzorg, east from Bandung, and west from Banjoewangi. In Central Java, a movement south from Semarang, and, in Eastern Java, a push south from Soerabaja, a movement inland from Probolinggo and a stand at Banjoewangi—this last to prevent and Republican flight eastward to the island of Bali.

A Dutch army communique this afternoon, while withholding geographical details, said that "All objectives for the first 24 hours were reached and at many points our troops even advanced much further." The communique reported resistance less than expected. It listed Dutch casualties yesterday as 150 dead and wounded.

It said the population "remains quiet and continues at work" and added that demolitions and arson had been reported from "only a few places."

On the other hand, a Republican informant in Batavia said the Dutch were striking stiff resistance in their drives from Soerabaja and Buitenzorg.

A high Dutch official said that when present objectives had been seized, perhaps within three or four days, the Dutch might halt their "local police action" since their mission then would have been fulfilled.

Waterfield In Louisville

By Henry Ward

When Mayor Leland Taylor last week blasted the organization in Louisville which is backing Earle C. Clements for governor because it had been trying to "pack" the precincts with election officers favorable to Clements, it was a clear indication of where Taylor's sympathies lie.

It was not the first hint, however, that Taylor is for Harry Lee Waterfield for the Democratic nomination. Two Taylor appointees—the city alcoholic beverage administrator and a city attorney—are cochairmen for Waterfield in Louisville, and you may be sure that they would not be working for him without Taylor's approval.

There is a deep significance in Taylor's position, as it applies to the race in Louisville. He is the only Democratic official in the city, and he controls all the city patronage now. A political organization in a city of that size must have jobs on which to operate. Those holding the jobs usually follow the lead of the mayor in political races.

Taylor declared in no uncertain terms that he did not approve the efforts of the Jefferson county Democratic committee in trying to replace Waterfield supporters with Clements backers among the election officials. He charged that this violated an agreement he had that the committee would not take sides in the governor's race.

Except for the fact that Taylor's outburst against this effort served to let everyone know that he really favors Waterfield, there was no real meaning in the statement.

Elections cannot be stolen in Louisville any more, as they often-times have been in the past, because all the precincts are equipped with voting machines. They are safeguards against illegal stuffing of the ballot boxes—a regular practice before the introduction of voting machines.

However, in state politics too much emphasis is placed on a candidate winning in Louisville. There is a feeling that the man who carries Louisville will win in the state. This is not always true.

For example, in the race for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator last year, Phil Adery carried Louisville, but John Young Brown won the nomination.

In the contest for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor four years ago William H. May failed to carry Louisville by a large margin, but he won the nomination in the primary.

In 1935, "Happy" Chandler lost Louisville but he beat Tom Rhea for the Democratic nomination by piling up majorities over the state.

The idea that as Louisville goes so goes the state apparently springs from the belief that the political organization there can build up a tremendous majority for the candidate it supports. In some years that has been true, but it doesn't always work out that way.

Right now the Democratic organization is split all to pieces. Part of it is supporting Clements, and part is backing Waterfield. It is generally claimed that Waterfield has the edge in Louisville over Clements, and is much stronger in that section of Jefferson county outside Louisville—Paducah, Sun-
Democrat.

Who Ate The Rest?

Last year, 2,075,880,000 pounds of peanuts were produced in the United States, the Encyclopedia Britannica announces. From personal experience, we'd bet that 2,075,879,999 pounds of the crop were shelled and eaten in movies and ball parks.

"Around Town"

(By M. C. Garrett, Jr., In Mayfield Messenger)

As I was growing into the little man that I am, my mother often told me of life's pathways; the ones of which to steer clear and the ones down which to venture. One of the paths of which she always told me to make a wide detour was that of "politics," but maybe she won't class the little dab into the political world exactly as an intelligent world class. Perhaps she will class it as a helping hand to an old friend—as I have.

Making the race for this year's Railroad Commissioner of the First Railroad District of Kentucky, which includes our Graves county, is Paul J. Durbin, a young Fulton lawyer and friend of mine of many years. Paul is the only veteran in the commissioner's race, and is really the most qualified for the job, since it is mostly law work and requires a great deal of law knowledge.

Paul has had a pretty hard go of it on up through his 30 years. He was left an orphan at the age of three, but was adopted

Rumors Of War

By Dewitt MacKenzie, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Ernest Bevin, Britain's ever daring foreign secretary, took his reputation as a prophet in his hands at the week-end and told a coal miners' picnic in northern England that there is no danger of another war in this generation so far as he can see.

And why should this statesman, whose voice carries around the world, raise the harrowing subject of conflict on the supposedly cheerful occasion of a picnic? Well, because it's a question which never is far from the minds of all thinking people, as you and I well know from the conversations we daily encounter. So Mr. Bevin made his prediction to calm fears, but he was quick to add this important qualification:

"But in every act you perform, you must keep in mind the children of thirty or forty years from now. Not a day passes, not a moment passes in the job in which I am now engaged without my being fully conscious that a wrong decision, wrong judgment or petulant answer may now condemn a generation."

Wise counsel that, for nobody can afford mistakes in these dangerous days. However, that doesn't mean that we are to refuse to face facts, to apply ourselves energetically to laying plans to meet emergencies, and to put those plans into operation forcefully when the emergencies crop up.

It would have been interesting if Mr. Bevin had amplified his forecast. Had he done so I dare say it might have developed several "ifs."

We shall have war if and when some aggressor nation acquires sufficient strength to wage a major conflict and so dares to carry out its aggression in the face of any and all hostile opinion. It strikes me that it might not take a generation for such a hypothetical situation to be created. Still, we do know that the only nation now physically capable of waging a major war of conquest is the United States—and the U. S. A. isn't an aggressor.

The present danger of war of course lies in the continued expansion of aggressive Communism. The world devotion for the spread of that ism is going full tilt, and it will keep going with increasing intensity until it strikes an obstacle which it can't move. Every new country which is absorbed in the Red campaign adds strength to Russia's powerful Communist empire—and all this is gained without a major shooting-war.

So far as Moscow's is concerned, it can avoid war by sitting aloof and being in a position to wash its hands of any act performed by one or more of its satellites. Take the case of Greece, for example. That unfortunate little country—already crippled by world war—is fighting a life and death battle with Communist forces which it asserts are backed by its Red neighbors to the north—a claim supported by the majority finding of the United Nations investigating commission in the Balkans. Yet Russia ostensibly isn't directly involved, and doesn't intend to become involved, because she doesn't want a war for which she isn't prepared.

America and the other democracies don't want war either, and so must move circumspectly. Still they have vowed to protect weak countries from being communized against Hungary, Romania and Poland, among others, and now are being used against Greece.

The only way this can be achieved without precipitating war is to provide the little fellows with the wherewithal to protect themselves against the Red satellites. That is the significance of the action of the U. S. state and war departments Saturday in urging the Senate to move quickly in approving funds to aid Greece and Turkey and start the world towards reconstruction.

by a Fulton family and reared to manhood. Upon completion of his schooling at the Fulton High School, Paul entered the University of Kentucky and studied law, working through both the academic and law schools. Among his jobs in school were those of a caddy, a dishwasher, a clerk, and whatever odd jobs he could lay his hands on.

While enrolled at the University, Paul became a member of the school's R. O. T. C. unit and upon graduation was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Infantry and placed on the reserve list. "The only reason I was in the R. O. T. C. was because of their boxing team," he told me once. The R. O. T. C. boxing team at the University at that time was an outstanding one, and Paul was better than the average with his fists in the ring, therefore, the soldiers wanted him in their midst.

This R. O. T. C. training came in handy for Paul, however, when hostilities broke out in Europe and throughout the world. Uncle Sam called him into service on July 1, 1941, and he entered with the rank of a second lieutenant.

Five years later to the day, fifteen months of which was combat service with the 70th Infantry Division in the European Theater, Paul was released from military service and came back to his home in Fulton wearing the leaves of a lieutenant-colonel, in Infantry. Officers in the Infantry service of the Army have the highest casualty rate of all the branches, and Paul's combat service saw many of his service friends fall about him, but he "was lucky" and came out without a scratch.

Last October he came back to Fulton to open his law office after the five-year interruption, and already he has cut himself a notch in the Fulton civil and local affairs. He is more than active in all city enterprises and is the present president of the Fulton Country Club, where he caddied for many years as a barfooted youngster. Many Mayfieldians, having played the Fulton course and had Paul as their caddy, will readily remember him from those days. He is married and the father of a JEWISH REFUGEES LEAVE BATTERED SHIP—Women and children walk off gangplank to Haifa, Palestine, dock, from illegal immigration ship "Exodus of 1947," after it had been intercepted by British warships on July 18. Above gangplank other immigrants stand amid wreckage caused when the ship was rammed in fierce battle between the British naval forces and the 4,500 persons aboard the ship. The immigrants were being deported to France, from where ship sailed, instead of to Cyprus, according to reliable sources.

In the present time Paul is wrapped up real tight in his campaign, traveling about his 41 counties in a jeep purchased from war surplus stocks. He carries his Army sleeping bag and bedroll with him wherever he goes and sleeps beside the jeep wherever he happens to be when the sun sets. "That is, unless I run across some old buddy with a spare bed," he says.

Now, Paul is simply just another boy like there are so many of in the U. S. today—one of those whose life, plans and entire future were blasted completely apart at the seams with the war and who is now making a determined bid to get settled and make up for lost time. "Robert Webb got his start as Railroad Commissioner, and since I am a lawyer and the job is altogether new work, I am trying to follow in his footsteps," he says.

Four Ky. Youths Held By FBI

Little Rock, July 22—(AP)—Four Kentucky youths, detained by Arkansas state police in connection with a car theft in Louisville after their car figured in a fatal collision at Devals Bluff, Ark., a week ago, are now in custody of the FBI and have been charged with violation of the Dyer Act. Dean Morley, Little Rock FBI agent, said yesterday.

John Maddox, 16, Louisville, who disappeared from University hospital where he was transferred for treatment of an eye injury suffered in the wreck in which F. R. Nixon, Greenville, S. C., was killed, was arrested by FBI and Memphis police in Memphis yesterday. Morley announced. He said Maddox was arraigned there and held under $1,500 bond.

Leroy Zinninger, 15, and Carl Thurman, 16, also of Louisville, and Carl Tandy, Prospect, Ky., who were quoted by State Police Capt. Earl Scroggin as admitting the four stole the car in Louisville, have been turned over to the FBI and are to be arraigned here today on Dyer Act charges, Morley said.

New York, July 22—(AP)—Billy Gibson, the old-time fight manager who died yesterday, not only taught Benny Leonard to box without getting hit and piloted Gene Tunney to the heavyweight title and the million dollar gates, but he was largely responsible for bringing professional football into New York. The records show that Gibson was one of the original holders of the New York Giants franchise and it never was made clear how Billy was left on the outside. Tunney always has maintained that Billy got a rather raw deal on the football business.

AKRONITE GETS NETWORK CHANGE

It's always gratifying to hear of a local person who is making good in radio. Such a person is Jack McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCoy, formerly of 1278 Brown street in Akron. Those who remember Jack will recall his excellent voice and radio aspirations.

He is now associated with CBS on the West coast. He was heard on Monday evening announcing the premiere performance of "Escape" over WADC. In September, he is due to take over the small chores of "House Party" in place of Art Linkletter, during the latter's vacation. McCoy broke into radio at the New York World's Fair. He was announcing the singing fountain at the Firestone exhibit when radio scouts suggested that he be given an audition.

The next eight years found him in Jackson, Miss., where he did sports and news for NBC, and in San Antonio, Tex. He went to Hollywood in January of this year. McCoy has two shows of his own that are heard in 26 western states over CBS Pacific network. They're titled "You're Only Young Once" and "Jack of all Trades." Jack is a grandson of Mrs. Callie McCoy of Fulton. He has a host of relatives and friends in Fulton and Hickman county. If we like his work on "House Party" in September, write to CBS and tell them about it.

Cards Favored
By Home Games;
Dodgers First

HALL OF FAME GAME

Baseball fans are hereby given fair warning to be prepared for another hectic down-to-the-wire finish in the National League pennant race with the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals once again assuming the leading roles.

Despite the Brooks' handsome four-game bulge—six and a half over the fourth place Redbirds—the Cardinals are not as bad off as first glance would seem to imply. The schedule is heavily in their favor.

Of the four chief contenders—Brooklyn, New York, Boston and St. Louis—the Cards have the most games to play at home—38. The Giants have 30, the Braves 28 and the Dodgers have 26, the least number of all, 26.

Of 51 games played in the friendly confines of Ebbets' Field, the Dodgers have won 36, lost 15 for a remarkable 700 percentage, fully 100 points above their season's overall record. No wonder the Dodger entourage, heading west today for the start of an 18-game road trip, was humming the familiar tune of "There's No Place Like Home."

In comparison, the Cards show a 615 home record with 24 won and 15 lost. The Braves have a 30-19 won and lost mark for .612 and the Giants boast a 594 figure for 28 wins and 19 losses.

The Dodgers staged a temporary farewell party at Ebbets Field yesterday by knocking off the Cincinnati Reds in both ends of a double-header, 7-4 and 4-3.

Catcher Bruce Edwards was the big gun for the Brooks, driving in four runs in the opening victory and knocking in the winning run in the nightcap with a ninth inning single.

The Dodgers were forced to come from behind in each game, much to the delight of 35,092 big customers making up the largest home attendance of the season.

Pete Reiser, the hard-luck champion, bruised his left shoulder when he fell fielding young's inside-the-park homer in the first game, and was forced to retire. Examination showed no fracture. Reiser is expected to be out for three or four days.

In the only other game played in the majors yesterday, the Phillies whipped the Pirates in Pittsburgh in a night game 8-1 to stay out of the National League cellar. The Phils hopped on Roger Wolff, the refugee knuckleballer from the American League, for six runs in the first inning to make Dutch Leonard's 11th win his easiest of the year. Dutch, also a knuckleball artist, is also a former American Leaguer. Both players for the Washington Senators.

No other teams were scheduled, although the New York Yankees met the Boston Braves in the annual Hall of Fame Game at Cooperstown, N. Y., with the Braves eking out a 4-3 decision in 10 innings.

Before the game 15 newcomers were officially welcomed into baseball's hall of fame. They were Ed Walsh, Rube Waddell, Joe Tinker, Johnny Evers, Frank Chance, Eddie Plank, Tom McCarthy, Jesse Burkett, Jack Chesbro, Iron Man Joe McGinnis, Clark Griffith, Carl Hubbell, Frank Frisch, Lefty Buz Grove and Mickey Cochrane. Fifth Inning Home Run

Sends Chicks Down

The Owensboro Oilers had two big innings last night to defeat the Fulton Chicks by a 11-8 score. The loss put the Chicks three and a half games out of first.

The Oilers exploded for four runs in the first frame on a triple, three singles and a fielder's choice.

The Chicks tied the count at 4-all in the fourth, but the Oilers tallied four more times in the fifth when Boothe hit a grand slam homer and then won the tilt in the seventh with a lone tally.

Grasso had four for four for the winners and Rhodes led the Fulton hitting with three for four.

Three quick double plays aided the Oilers in the game.

Local Option Election Postponed In Perry

Frankfort, Ky., July 22—(AP)—Advice that Perry county postpone its September 20 local option election because Hazard's municipal primary will be held September 27 was given by the attorney general's office today.

John C. Caltrio who queried, was told state law prohibits a local option election being held on the same date or within 30 days of a regular election or regular primary. State law fixes Hazard's primary for September 27. The local option referendum was set for September 20 on petition of citizens.

Wall Street Report

New York, July 22—(P)—Scattered rally and industrials remained in the recovery ranks of today's stock market although many leaders inclined to retreat.

Dealings slowed after a moderately active opening. Early gains of fractions were erased here and there and narrow irregularity prevailed near midday.

Inflation ideas still provided the principal purchasing inspiration. Ahead at intervals were Great Northern Railway, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific (as a strike of engineers ended), International Harvester, Kennecott, Cerro De Pasco, American Telephone and Standard Oil (N.J.). Backward occasionally were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, United Air Craft, American Smelting, Westinghouse, General Electric, Pennsylvania Railroad and Union Carbide.

Bonds were mixed and cotton future steady.

Boyd County Budget Held In Deadlock

Frankfort, Ky., July 22—(AP)—Boyd county will have to do without a budget to govern its appropriations until a fiscal court deadlock is broken, the attorney general's office said today.

County Attorney George F. Gallup of Catlettsburg wrote that two county commissioners voted against the 1947-48 budget as drawn by the county budget commission and approved by the state local finance officer. The county judge and the other commissioner voted for it.

"It is our interpretation," said the reply. "That this budget does not go into effect until the fiscal court approves it. It is unfortunate in your case that there is a deadlock, but that deadlock should be broken by some kind of a compromise in the interest of the county."
